COURSE OVERVIEW

Conduct Assessment Framework (CAF) measures a bank's state of conduct. The purpose is to develop a periodic, reliable, diagnostic and comparable mechanism which helps banks to deliver its commitment to Fair Treatment of Customers (FTC) in the most optimum way. The first formal reporting of Conduct Assessment Framework (CAF) to the State Bank of Pakistan is due in March 2018. Banks need to equip themselves with the right tools, to be able to undertake the CAF. This two-day workshop will help the participants to understand, design and implement the right tools in their banks to collect information about its conduct. The workshop will also include "red" and "green" signals, indicating the level of banks' readiness to CAF.
